

As expected, the redistricting process was the priority this second week. The Senate has passed their plan and the House is expected to vote on their plan by the end of next week.

The House Releases Budget Allocations - Senate Not yet.

The House has released their budget allocations, a clear message to the Senate that they plan to move forward with crafting the state budget. The Senate leadership had circulated a letter supporting early adjournment, coming back in the spring hopefully to better revenue numbers.

Florida's recovery continues to grow at a slow pace and there will be a shortfall of $1.4 billion for FY 12-13. Legislators plan to use $1.4 billion shortfall as the gap between projected tax revenues and the rising costs of services and programs. Increased costs include projected Medicaid growth of $900 million and 31,500 students to be added to the public school rolls.

The House budget will include a $1 billion increase in education funding, $100 million for tax cuts and a plan for $1 billion for reserves. The Senate has announced it will release its initial budget proposal next week.
