FJJA Presents to Governor Elect Scott's Juvenile Justice Transition Team

FJJA met recently with the Governor-elect Scott's juvenile justice transition team, who were tasked with identifying innovative ideas, cost saving opportunities, and restructuring recommendations for the agency.

FJJA's presentation included a recommendation that the Department of Juvenile Justice remain a separate agency, with restructuring to leverage the successes that have occurred since the agency was removed from HRS in 1994.

Other recommendations:

- Build on successes and strengths of the existing system;
- Further privatize the system in order to maximize innovation, flexibility, outcomes and cost efficiency;
- Specific cost saving ideas relating to reengineering quality assurance and reducing state operated residential programming.

Transition Teams Present Recommendations To Governor-Elect Scott

While transition teams were presenting their final recommendations this week, Governor-elect Scott had asked most of Gov. Crist's administration to rescind their resignations and stay on board for up to three months, as the search for replacements continue. Nearly all of the state agency heads were asked to stay, with the exception of Tom Pelham, (DCA), Frank Peterman, (DJJ) Leo DiBenigno, (Lottery) and Linda South, (DMS).

All of FJJA's recommendations to the team were included in the final report to Governor-elect Scott.

Revenue Estimating Conference Confirms Larger Deficit

Although Florida is seeing growth, it is slower than projected and state forecasters have now increased the budget deficit amount to $3.5 billion. This slow growth has not allowed the state to keep up with the increased demand in Medicaid, which is currently the largest driver in the state budget.

Last week, the National Governors Association reported that states are facing $175 billion in budget gaps through June 2013, forcing legislatures to weigh spending cuts and tax increases. Governor-elect Scott will use the December revenue numbers to build his proposed budget slated to be released in February. There will be another estimating conference before the opening of the 2011 session.

FJJA Works With Associated Industries on SB 226 to Enhance Accountability, Improve Service Delivery, Eliminate Duplication and Encourage Cost Savings

As co-chair of the AIF Government Outsourcing Council, FJJA supports SB 226, proposed legislation that ensures that government oversight is not duplicative, excessive, or stifles creativity, lowers performance, or diminishes the cost savings that are possible from utilizing the outsourcing model. SB 226 bill highlights:

- Use national accreditation standards to meet basic monitoring requirements. State agency monitoring of providers would only cover those standards not covered by accreditation.
- In areas of overlapping jurisdiction, designate a lead state agency to ensure that monitoring is coordinated and requirements are coordinated and duplication is avoided
- Utilize a centralized document vault where basic monitoring information on providers can be electronically posted and accessible to all monitoring agencies at one time.
- Enhance accountability by requiring agencies to provide annually to the Executive Office of the Governor a comprehensive list of all contract requirements, mandated reports, and outcome measures required of providers
- Ensures prompt payment on undisputed reimbursement issues
- Requires a contract amendment if a material change in the contract is imposed on a service provider
- Eliminates duplication by requiring common documentation forms to be utilized by all state agencies requesting the same information and requires all state agencies and school districts to accept a Level 2 background screen requested by another agency.

FJJA 2010-2011 Legislative Agenda

Maximize Florida's investment in a balanced juvenile justice system to ensure public safety to:

- Reduce crime.
- Reduce victimization and related costs.
- Reduce need for future prison construction.
- Reduce flow of juveniles into adult prison system.

FJJA Long Term Legislative Priorities

- Balance the Juvenile Justice Continuum
- Enhance Gender Specific Programming
- Reduce Disproportionate Minority Contact
- Ensure Legal Representation
- Develop Alternatives to Secure Detention

The Center for Fiscal and Economic Policy: Medicaid is Scapegoat for Budget Woes

As legislators prepare to tackle Medicaid reform, and although Medicaid spending is the largest single spending category in the state budget, CFEP believes that the state reaps a tremendous return on its investment in Medicaid.

The report claims that every dollar of state general revenue (GR) invested in Medicaid this year will leverage an additional $4.77 from other sources, an unprecedented yield. Following the end of the stimulus dollars, every dollar of state general revenue invested in Medicaid will leverage another $2.98. Click here to read the full report.

University of South Florida Louis de la Parte Florida Mental Health Institute: Evaluation of Florida's Behavioral Health Overlay Services (BHOS)

Florida Behavioral Health Overlay Services (BHOS) were developed to address the mental health and substance abuse needs of juvenile justice youth. Studies compared a group of children who received BHOS services with a matched group of youth who did not receive JJBHOS. Reports shows that youth who received BHOS had better outcomes than youth who did not receive BHOS while in DJJ programs.

FJJA 2010-2011 Key Messages

Florida's juvenile justice system is one of the most comprehensive in the country and is always improving.

- We have nationally recognized programs and services throughout the state which serve the needs of each local community.
- Florida is a leader in prevention, early intervention and diversion services helping to reduce the number of youth from penetrating the system.

A responsive and balanced juvenile justice continuum is good for Florida and good for the youth who need services.

- Public safety is the most important goal, and a variety of services delivered locally ensure that the right service for the right youth at the right time occurs.
- Wise investments in the juvenile justice system pay off now and in the future and stop the flow of youth into the adult prison system.

Building on our successes saves dollars that won't be spent on prisons and will prevent future victims.

- Indicators point to the fact that today's adult prisoners are less likely to be in prison had they benefited from effective juvenile justice interventions at an early age.
- We can't afford to lose ground in these difficult economic times; we must build on what is working successfully.
- We must invest now or will pay more later.

TaxWatch Report: Recommendations of the Government Cost Savings Task Force

Florida TaxWatch annual report identifies productivity and efficiency improvements and other cost savings measures to change the way Florida government operates. Recommendations include expanding managed care in the Medicaid program to save money and help control the cost of healthcare, identifying waste, fraud, and abuse in Medicaid and the health care system, removing exemptions to competitive bidding and empowering a commission to do a top-to-bottom review of the criminal justice and corrections system to identify savings. <http://www.floridataxwatch.org/resources/pdf/12082010GCTSF.pdf>

Urban Institute: Children of Incarcerated Parents

For the nearly 2 million children in the United States whose parents are in prison, caretaking necessary for optimal development is disrupted. These vulnerable youth - a population that has increased 80% in the last 20 years - are more likely to experience learning difficulties, poor health, and substance abuse, and eventually be incarcerated themselves.

U.S. Department of Justice: Youth's Characteristics and Backgrounds

Report provides a snapshot: 85% of all youth in residential placement are male. The custody rate for females is less than one-fifth the rate for males. The majority (51%) of youth in placement are 16 or 17 years old. More than 15% are between ages 18 and 20. Preteens (ages 10-12) comprise 1% of the placement population. About one-third of youth in residential placement are white non-Hispanic. Nearly another one-third are black or African American and one-fourth are Hispanic. Nearly one-third of youth had one offense. Another one-third had two or three offenses, and the remaining one-third had four or more. <http://www.ncjrs.gov/pdffiles1/ojdp/227730.pdf>

FJF Scholarship Opportunities Still Available

The Florida Juvenile Justice Youth Investment Award, made possible by a generous grant from the Eckerd Family Foundation is still available. The award is designed to assist youth who are or were served by the Florida Department of Juvenile Justice or contracted providers. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year, and are subject to funding availability.

The funding may be requested to assist youth leaving the juvenile justice system, with the next step essential to academic achievement or workforce readiness which cannot be met through any other available resources essential to the youth's success. Awards may contribute to tuition for post-secondary education, supplies, transportation, education or employability assistance with funding made directly to the vendor.
